

DeepStack

Brand building breakdown & scope of work

08/04/2026

MATTHEW CHAN'S
BRANDOLOGY
• EST. 2005 •

1. Brand DNA & proposition development

How do we expect our audience to perceive us?
The audience will think of us when they…

- want to have better experience watching poker games rather than the conventional channels.
- want to get more entertainment value than just to watch a regular poker session.
- can resonate with the players remotely by applying creative rules and ideas.
- can interact and engage with the poker game where they can win prizes.
- might be lucky enough to be chosen to play on the very table themselves.

2. Branding objectives

The new brand should carry the following attributes :

- A premium yet unique visual identity that carries a sense of exclusivity and mystery.
- A poker brand of a new era that is powered by taste, knowledge and creativity.
- Establish a highly distinguishable brand positioning beyond generic poker branding.
- A brand development that is ready for future brand growth.

Establish a clear brand positioning for DeepStack beyond generic poker branding.
Develop a brand world that communicates exclusivity, cinematic tension, status, and cultural relevance.
Create strong creative and visual direction that can guide future communication and production.
Build a scalable identity framework for content, campaigns, events, and branded experiences.
Set a decision-making foundation so future creative output remains consistent and scalable.
Propose an ongoing consultancy structure to support long-term brand development and quality control.

MATTHEW CHAN'S
BRANDOLOGY
• EST. 2005 •

3. Protagonist Creation

Leveraging Elton’s fame and image as the major Narrative Lens of the brand
Interacting with other characters to create dramas during the game.

A poker world filled with different characters, each with heir own roles and personality in order to craft a cinematic, dramatic atmosphere to convey the entertainment value of the poker game.

Establish a clear premium positioning for DeepStack beyond generic poker branding.
Develop a brand world that communicates exclusivity, cinematic tension, status, and cultural relevance.
Provide strong creative and visual direction that can guide future communication and production.
Create scalable narrative frameworks for content, campaigns, events, and branded experiences.
Build a decision-making foundation so future creative output remains consistent and scalable.
Propose an ongoing consultancy structure to support long-term brand development and quality control.

4. Storytelling Pillars

Different pillars will be created to act as the major components of brand message delivery

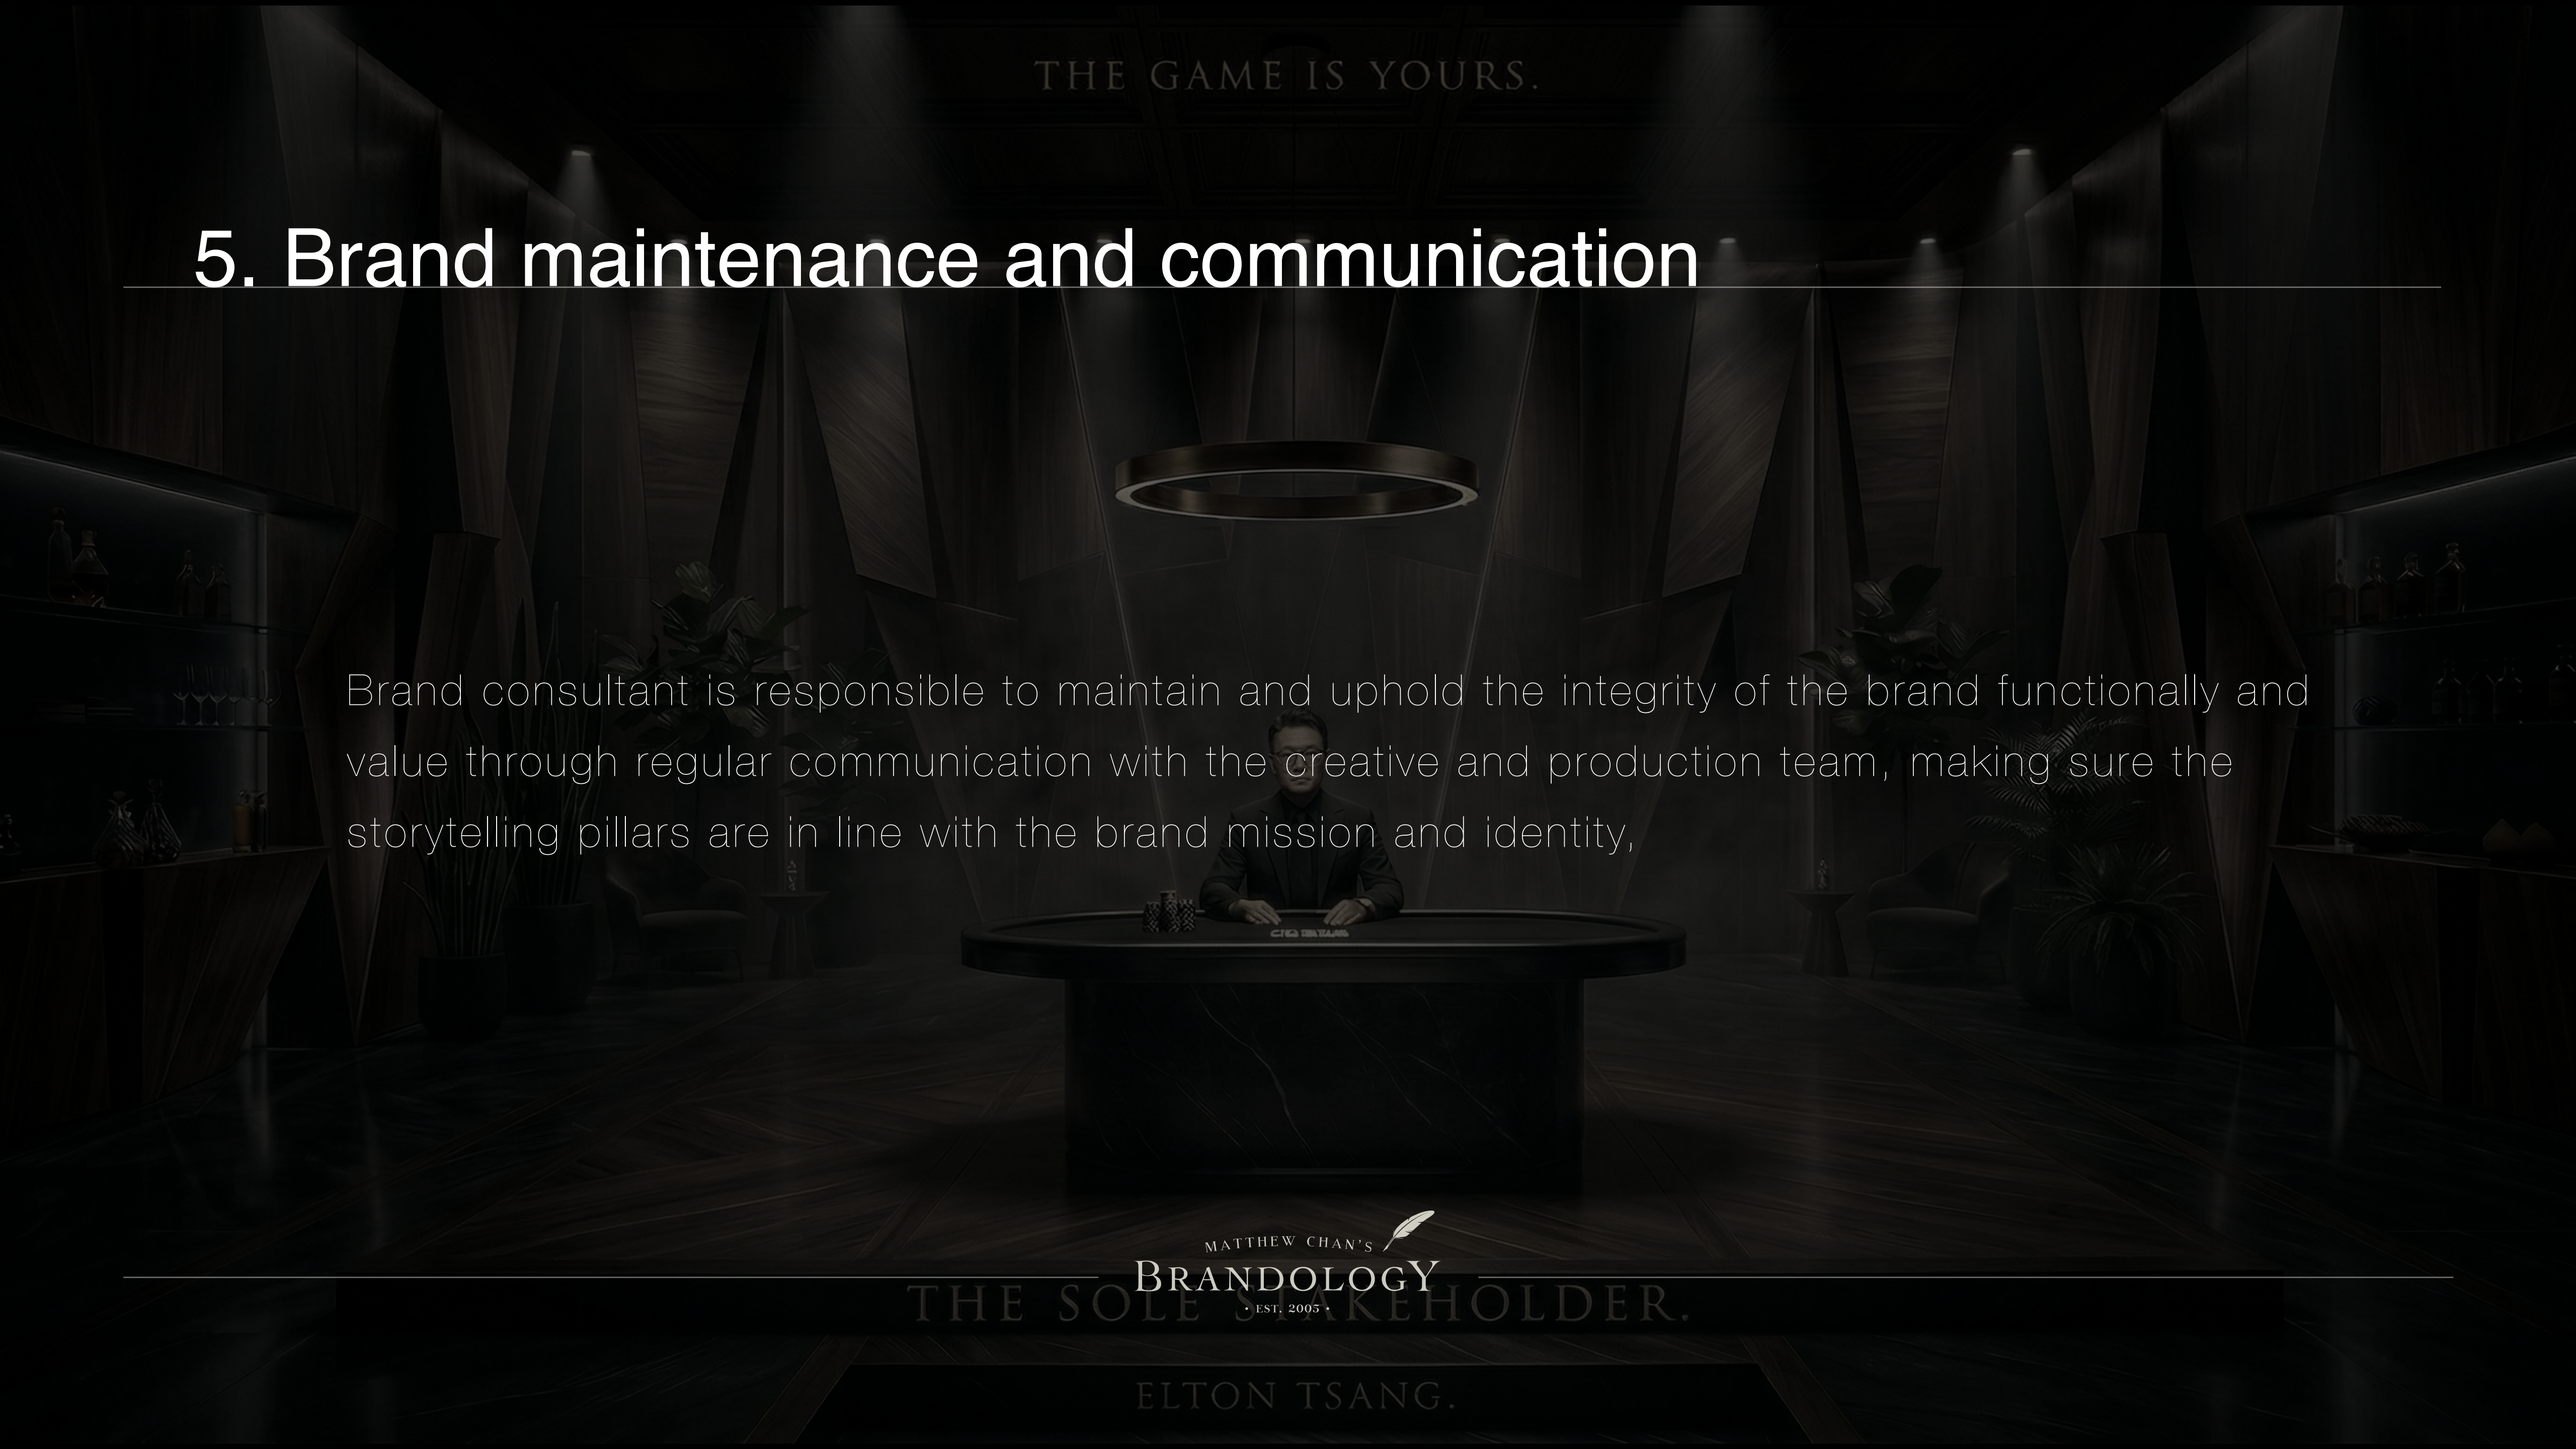

Entertaining factors - Interactions and chemistries between players, delivering dramas through Hollywood class cinematography and professional commentaries.

Biometric measurements - Allow audience to feel the pressure and psychological stats of the players in the moment, creating a heart-pounding emotional experience.

Educational - Inviting GTO pros to explain the math and logics behind selected hands played.

Interactive - Audience can participate through their phones in prediction games and lucky draw activities, making them feel more closely engaged with the game.

5. Brand maintenance and communication

Brand consultant is responsible to maintain and uphold the integrity of the brand functionally and value through regular communication with the creative and production team, making sure the storytelling pillars are in line with the brand mission and identity,

True value of branding

Brand Value Assessment

Brand Strength

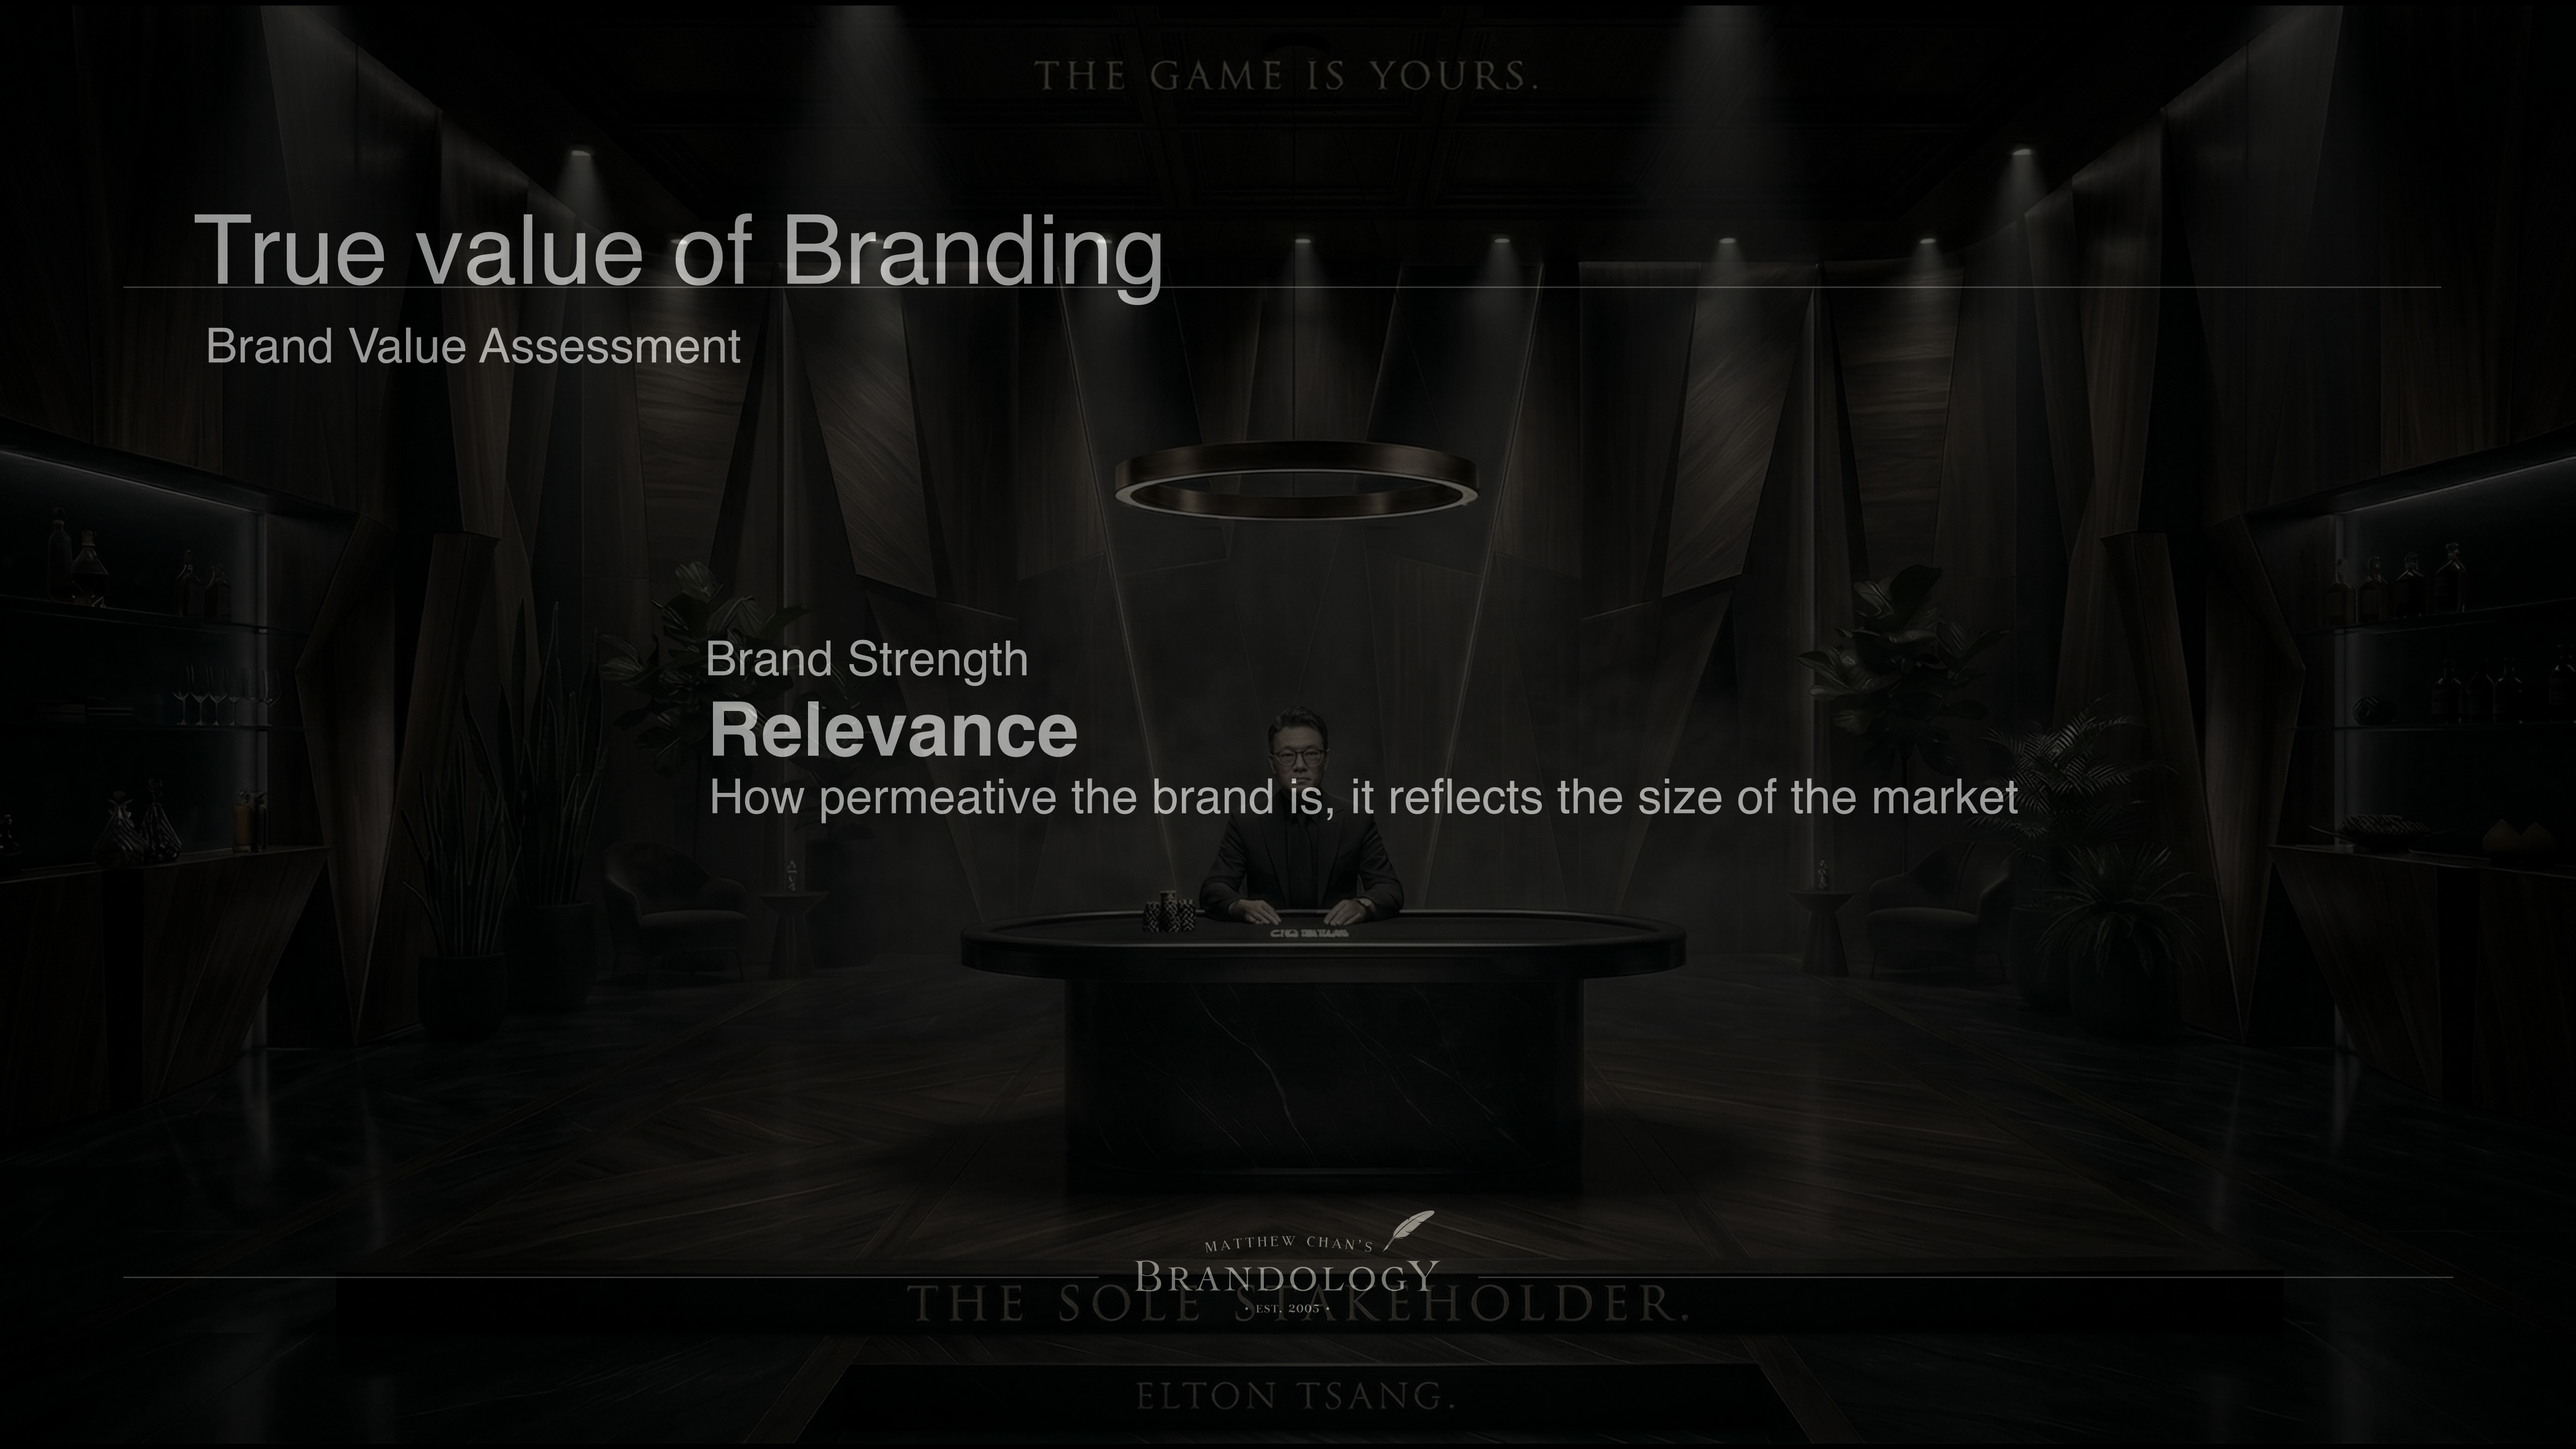

Differentiation

How unique the brand is, it reflects money-making power

THE GAME IS YOURS.
MATTHEW CHAN'S
BRANDOLOGY
EST. 2005
THE SOLE STAKEHOLDER.
ELTON TSANG.

True value of Branding

Brand Value Assessment

Brand Strength

Relevance

How permeative the brand is, it reflects the size of the market

MATTHEW CHAN'S
BRANDOLOGY
EST. 2005

True value of Branding

Brand Value Assessment

Brand Stature

Esteem

How well regarded this brand is, it reflects the credibility of the brand

MATTHEW CHAN'S
BRANDOLOGY
EST. 2005

True value of Branding

Brand Value Assessment

Brand Stature

Knowledge

What customers like about the brand, it reflects customer loyalty

MATTHEW CHAN'S
BRANDOLOGY
EST. 2005

THE GAME IS YOURS.
MATTHEW CHAN'S
BRANDOLOGY
• EST. 2005 •
THE SOLE STAKEHOLDER.
ELTON TSANG.